

Fr. James Fleming is a Roman Catholic priest of the Archdiocese of St. John's, NL. Since his ordination in 2016, Fr. James has served as the parochial vicar to Sacred Heart Parish, Marystown and St. Patrick's Parish, Burin. Prior to entering St. Augustine's Seminary, where he received his formation for the priesthood, Fr. James completed a Ph.D. in Organic Chemistry at Stanford University. In addition to parish ministry, Fr. James has served as chaplain to the Waterford Hospital and is currently the spiritual director for the Legion of Mary in Newfoundland. He enjoys feeding birds and making his family laugh.