"Lord, How Good It Is For Us To Be Here"

We know the story of the Transfiguration very well. Jesus takes His closest disciples, Peter, James and John, up a high mountain. As we so often heard "suddenly Moses and Elijah appear and were talking to Jesus." Peter, caught up in the moment, says "Master, how wonderful it is for us to be here. If you want me to, I will put up three tents, one for you, one for Moses and one for Elijah."

If we think about it, we have all, at one time or another, had a profound moment in our lives. I like to call them, "graced moments" or "God moments." These moments can vary for each of us. It could be absorbing God's natural beauty in places such as the Yosemite, Grand Canyon, or Niagara Falls. It could be prayerful moments, where there is deep connection with God. Perhaps an incident where your life seems to pass before you due to illness or accident and you were spared. It can also be as simple as looking into the eyes of your children or other family members and having a sense of all how blessed you are to have them. These are all amazing moments that are few and far between, and we want more of them. This is actually how Peter felt when he says to Jesus, "how good it is for us to be here"!!!

The word Transfiguration is defined as a complete change of form or appearance into a more beautiful or spiritual state. Who would not want to experience those moments much more frequently? The problem with Peter, and often with us, is we want to stay on the mountain top. We want to hoard those moments and keep them to ourselves. God wants us to bring these "graced" or "God moments" down the mountain. These moments give us the courage and grace to see and believe no matter what comes our way in life. The Transfiguration was a moment that would guide the disciples through Jesus' Passion, Death and Resurrection and eventually their public ministry and persecution.

Each "grace" or "God moment" gets us through moments of life. It is necessary for us to come down from the mountain tops of our lives. If we stay there we miss out in the "grace" and "God moments" of everyday life. I guess what I am trying to say is the more we stay in the mountain tops of life, the less we see God in the everyday moments. The one thing I personally take away from Peter's statement, "how good it is so be here," is he had three years of Jesus' teaching, preaching, healing, forgiving and mentoring. Are those not "grace" and "God moments"?

Yes we need mountain top moments, but "grace" and "God" are in so many moments. We need to see that and stop minimizing God's presence in our lives. If Lent is a time of prayer, fasting and penance, aren't these acts done to help us recognize God in our lives by focusing more on His presence? Though we can often be negative about our world, we fail to see God's many blessings. Lent should be a time of recognizing God's presence and his hand in our lives. The more we see God at work in everyday life, the more we can say "how good it is for us to be here."

Lenten Blessings,

Fr Jeffrey J. Finley, C.P.P.S.
